Indian education system has undergone wide variety of changes during modern times. Teaching methods, techniques, Teacher's role, learner's behavior, aims and objective all have been revised and changed in order to make students more progressive and reflexive. These rapid changes bring plethora of challenges with them and one of the most basic and long-prevailing challenge is bringing all children into education system beating issues of caste, creed, gender and poverty. These issues need through debate and discussion combined with proper implementation. "Right to Education" is an act of parliament of India enacted on 4th august, 2009 which came into force on 1st April, 2010. This act is an effort to ensure free and compulsory education for children between the ages of 06 to 14 years in India.

'Compulsory education' word casts obligation on state government to provide admission and ensure completion of elementary.
